

Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 11 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Remaining very windy, especially around coasts, with showers.

Today:

Continued strong winds with coastal gales, occasionally severe and reaching inland. Showers also continue throughout the day, some carrying a risk of hail, but with brighter conditions interspersed. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:

Most showers ease to leave a clear, cool night for many. Turning cloudy as an organised band of showers, occasionally heavy, approaches before dawn. Winds remain strong, gusty near downpours. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Friday:

Wet and windy. Persistent showers throughout, most intense and frequent in the morning and evening, with some brighter and drier condition in the afternoon. Windy, with coastal gales developing later. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Blustery showers and sunny spells on the weekend, with risk of hail. Winds remain strong, with gales and severe gales along coasts Saturday, easing Sunday. Cloudy with rain on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.